Opposition to this plan is not made by the W. B. A., but it has two enemies:—First, it is difficultly determining who shall, or should, or must emigrate. Some must remain in the col-lories. Who is to determine who and how many shall leave? Second, the operators are opposed to it, and how? By their action; for it is the interest and practice of the individual operators and of the coal corporations, when the market is active and prices are high, to employ as many men as possible, and to employ them at the highest wages, and to employ them at the lowest wages, and to employ them the body.

A resolution was entertained by unanimous consent, and adopted without objection.

After further discussion, Mr. Sawyer moved to amend the bill by striking out the words "to pay for the purchase of the property of the Sisters of Our Lady of Mercy at Charleston, South Carolina. Agreed to—yeas 27, noes 10.

The latter bill was considered without action.

At 11 o'clock President Hamilton moved an executive order, which was adopted by the President of the United States, and that they were informed that the Executive had further communication to make. Pending a discussion upon Mr. Sawyer's bill, the hour of 12 o'clock, fixed by law for the expiration of the session, arrived when the Vice-President addressed the Senate as follows:

"The Senate is convened for the approval of my official report which you have placed upon your records, and I declare the Third Session of the Senate of the United States of the Forty-first Congress adjourned without a day."

"The time fixed by law for the assembling of the First Session of the Forty-second Congress having arrived, the Secretary will call upon the Senators elect, who will present themselves in front of the Vice-President's chair to take the oath of office."

House.

The all-night session of the House continued until 5:30. A regular session was raised by a proposition of Mr. Garfield to amend the rules, which was adopted by a vote of 100 yeas to 70 noes.

Another proposition was made when Mr. Clarke, of Kansas, made an attempt to get up a land grant
